Dear Mr. / Mrs. [Name of the Recipient],

We are really proud of the fact that big brands like you are one of the leading contributors to our organization, [Name of the Organization]. You have always supported our welfare cause with your donations.

So, I request you to be the sponsor of our upcoming event, [mention Name of the Event]. The contributions of this event will help the poor and hungry people of Africa. With the success of this event, we aim to help 50000 poor and hungry families in different parts of the African continent where famine has affected the population.

Our organization can't be able to organize the whole event on its own. For this, we need a strong sponsor like you who can manage this whole event. In return, you will get the advertisement space on the event banners and every type of other promotional material. It will surely increase your brand reach and goodwill.

I hope that you will take serious notice of my request and respond to this email as soon as possible. I will be looking forward to positive feedback from you. Feel free to contact me anytime via the given below contact details.
